

Surepoint Technologies Group Ltd. Expands to Vancouver Island with New Services

NISKU, Alberta, February 8, 2022 – With a focus on growth this year, Surepoint Technologies Group (Surepoint Group) is pleased to announce its expansion to Vancouver Island by merging with five independent business owners [Andrew Gudmundseth, Tom Nightingale, Dan Gregson, Corey Turcotte, Jordan McGarvey] forming Surepoint Vancouver Island, a subsidiary of Surepoint Group. This expansion stretches Surepoint Group’s geographical reach, grows its service lines, and increases the team’s expertise in emerging industries. The newly formed Island Division will focus on residential and commercial electrical services, solar power installations, and EV charging solutions.

The Vancouver Island team is a well-established group of local specialists who have spent decades growing their expertise in a variety of industries and supporting local communities. They are all long-time friends and have developed a solid reputation that Surepoint is excited to build upon.

The merger was led and executed by Kevin Shillito, Vice President of Operations at Surepoint Group who is a former resident of the Cowichan Valley now living in Fort St. John.

I have known this group for most of my life can't say enough good things about them. They bring a high level of technical ability, leadership skills, professionalism, and all are deeply rooted in the community. I am very proud to be in business with this group and can't wait for the opportunities ahead.

- Kevin Shillito, VP of Operations.

Operating out of the Cowichan Valley, Surepoint Vancouver Island is excited for the road ahead and are deeply committed to their clients and community.
